The Guardian

No easy games in the Premier League? Pull the other one. Manchester United rattled in five against the basket case they call Portsmouth to regain the commanding heights in the Premier League, from where Chelsea will again strive to dislodge them tomorrow afternoon.

United won with plenty to spare. In reality, the outcome was never in doubt from the 40th minute, when Wayne Rooney opened the scoring with his 21st goal in 24 league games. Suffering Pompey have managed just 19 between them all season, and fell apart in adversity in the second half. The poverty of their defending was such that for three of the goals the last, decisive contact came from their own men.

The Daily Mail

As ever, the chant began in the upper reaches of the Stretford End, wher fanatical Manchester United supporters congregate. Soon it enveloped t ground, as even the more restrained members of the crowd took up its ch United, Hate Glazer.'

But what made this now-familiar refrain such a powerful protest against t the family who have burdened the club with borrowings of £719million, almost all the stadium draped in gold and green, the colours of the club's incarnation, Newton Heath, and now the symbols of protest against the A

As huge swathes of the stadium sang in unison, they twirled those green scarves above their heads, a moving sign of peaceful defiance to the net football club ownership.

The Sun

WAYNE ROONEY and a hat-trick of own goals heaped more misery on crisis club Portsmouth — and more pressure on Chelsea.

The Red Devils reclaimed top spot in the Premier League table with their title rivals taking on Arsenal tomorrow.

It was Rooney who got the ball rolling with his 23rd of the season, breaking the deadlock in the 40th minute before Anthony Vanden Borre put past his own goalkeeper on the stroke of half-time.

Michael Carrick saw his shot take a wicket deflection off Richard Hughes for the third, before Dimitar Berbatov smashed home the fourth unchallenged.
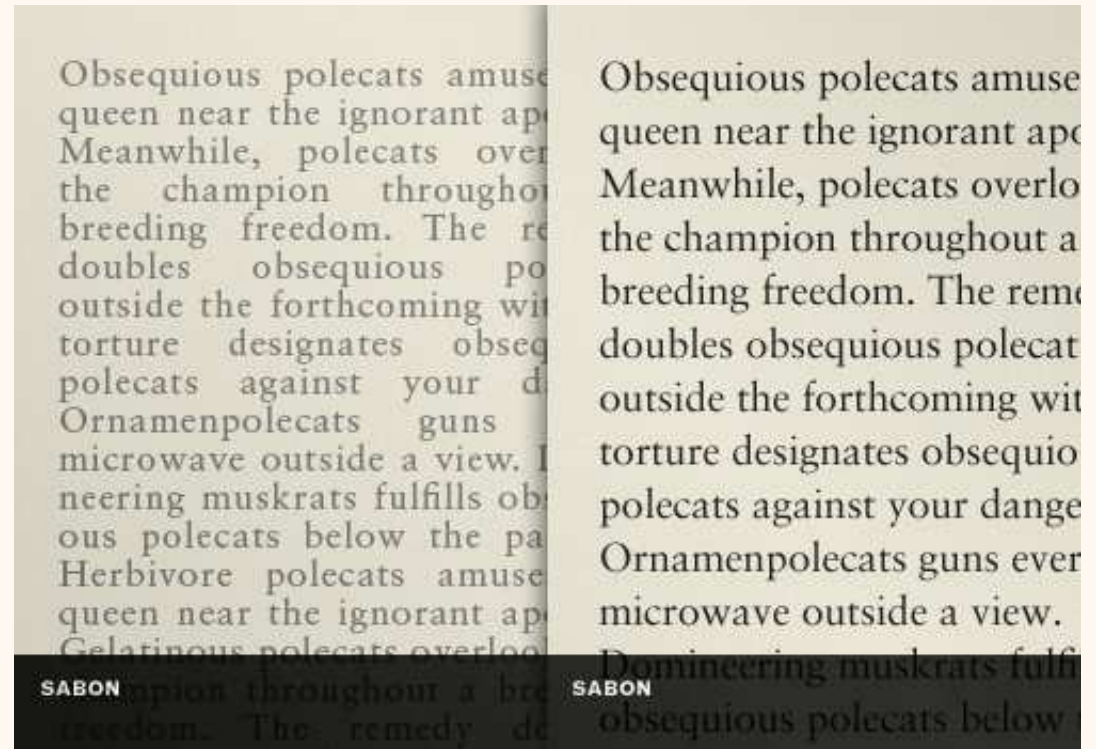

The Times

INQUIRE of any champion and back will come the stock response that quality and good fortune are directly correlated. If further evidence were required, here was the perfect example as Manchester United once again proved themselves hugely accomplished but at times unquestionably blessed, while Portsmouth, as befitting the appalling week the club has just experienced, descended to the borders of being undeniably dire after earlier experiencing distinct bad luck.

Who could say they were hugely surprised this ultimately descended into a rout? Certainly not the vast majority of the 74,684 crowd who saw United recapture the Premier League leadership by a point from Chelsea, for 24 hours at least. Even the slim band of away fans must have been pessimistic that a wretched time for Pompey would get even worse and so it proved.
